REQUIRED TO DECLARE FOR HIM OR FOR BROWN

EACH MAN'S NAME AND ANSWER TAKEN DOWN

HI SHERIFF HENRY RESORTS TO THE UNPRECEDENTED PROCEEDING OF ASSEMBLING THE ENTIRE POLICE FORCE AND DEMANDING EACH ONE TO STATE WHETHER HE INTENDED TO VOTE FOR HENRY OR FOR BROWN FOR SHERIFF.

The members of the police force were compelled this morning to declare themselves in the shirvally issue. They were lined up by squads under positive instructions from William Henry the present high sheriff, and forced to state whether they were in favor of Brown the regular Republican nominee for Sheriff or Henry the Civic Federation nominee. No warning had been given the men that such a scheme was to be sprung on them and to the majority of those who were hauled on the carpet, the query came as a complete surprise. Out of about 60 men questioned, about

Russia Consents To Discuss Peace

(Associated Press Cable to The Star).

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, has formally given to President Roosevelt Russia's consent to the opening of negotiations for a treaty of peace with Japan. This means that the Russian government is practically suing for peace, and is ready to discuss the terms through the American president.

JOHNSON FOR BROWN

DENIES THE STATEMENT THAT HE IS SUPPORTING HENRY FOR SHERIFF—SOME POLITICAL HISTORY SHOWING WHY HE IS NOT OUT TAKING AN ACTIVE PART IN THE FIGHT—MEETING WITH CANDIDATES TODAY.

"It is not true that I am supporting William Henry for sheriff of Oahu," said Sam Johnson at noon today, after he had had a conference with Republican candidates and others at the party headquarters. "I am a straight ticket man. I am supporting the Republican ticket. I am not supporting Henry."

Johnson's statement was called forth by a statement in the Advertiser this morning to the effect that he was supporting Henry for sheriff. The publication of this as a fact caused astonishment among Republicans, for Sam has always been a party worker. But Sam admits that he is not working hard for either Brown or anyone else, and the reason for his refusal to get out and hustle is found in the attitude of some Republican leaders during the legislative session.

"Mr. Johnson was active in the last campaign," said Attorney General Andrews, who was also present at the meeting this morning, and did a lot of work for the Republican party. But no less than three Republican senators went to Governor Carter and demanded the removal of Johnson on the ground that he was too active in politics. It is quite natural after a lesson like that that Johnson should decide not to show any special activity any more. In the House, Representatives Cox attacked him for political activity, and there have been many public criticisms of him for taking a too prominent part in politics. He explained to the candidates this morning that in view of this sort of treatment he was not disposed to do any active fighting this time."

Johnson was present when Andrews made this statement of the case, and he acquiesced in the attorney general's remarks. For himself Johnson emphatically denied the statement made in behalf of the Civic Federation by the Advertiser this morning, that Johnson was supporting Henry.

Both Andrews and Johnson are in a very peculiar position in the campaign. As office holders under Governor Carter, they are naturally expected to obey his orders, but neither of them appear to be doing it. Both are vying for the Republican ticket as against the Carter-Civic effort to defeat Brown. As a result, every time the straight-out Republicans think of them they wonder how long they will hold their jobs.

Vida is another office-holder whose position is regarded as in jeopardy. Vida is a deputy sheriff. He is supporting Brown for sheriff, and it is

A DYING HOLIDAY

KAMEHAMEHA DAY WITHOUT RACES FOR THE FIRST TIME IN A LONG TERM OF YEARS—HOW A DAY OF GREAT SPORTING EVENTS HAS LOST STANDING THROUGH FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES OF THE JOCKEY CLUB.

The band played in the Capitol building grounds, and that was about all the Kamehameha day observance there was today. It was a very striking contrast to past eleventh of June, on which there have been great crowds at Kapiolani park watching a long list of races. For over thirty years horse racing has had its day on June 11 in Hawaii and no Kamehameha day has passed without big events at the race track.

The lack of a fence around the track killed the sport. The Hawaiian Jockey Club, under whose auspices the racing was had, was rapidly going into debt in the effort to keep up the sport, for there were more people who saw the races without paying than the number who paid their way into the enclosure. The last racing day, a year ago today, saw a great crowd of people watching the races over the low fence that surrounds the track, and a much smaller number occupying seats in the Grand stand. Instead of the great concourse of people in hacks and buggies in the center of the track there were only a few rigs. The Jockey club found the game too expensive to carry on that way, and this year no arrangements were made for races. It costs a lot of money to train a horse and prepare him for a race, and if there are not large gate receipts the sport cannot exist.

The only hope for a revival is in securing an enclosed track, and this would be an expensive proposition.

There is some talk of getting a half-mile track and enclosing it, but the funds are not in sight yet. The present track, being a part of a public park, will probably not be allowed to be enclosed with a high fence. Until there is a track to which admission can be charged with some effect, the Jockey club is not likely to lay out any more money on races. It came out with a big loss last year.

Kamehameha day used to be one of Honolulu's great annual holidays. In the times of royalty it was a fete day at the Palace, and the time for having usually found all Honolulu society at the track. The Queen had her own box and occupied it only a few years ago, while all the "swell" turnouts in town drove to the track and lined up in good positions near the grand stand, many of the occupants taking luncheon with them, and enjoying their midday repast in the noon interval in the racing programme. There were races enough to make a long day's sport. Several years ago the programme was so long that it was divided into two days of racing, and there was a big crowd on both days. Today the track is deserted. The crowd went to the beach and the Zoo.

June 11 is supposed to be the birthday of Kamehameha the Great, hence its name of Kamehameha day. It has been a legal holiday for many years, but in view of the dying out of the main features of celebration, the holiday itself is not unlikely to be done away with.

RUSHING THE DIX TO SEATTLE

DEPOT QUARTERMASTER ORDERED TODAY BY CABLE TO HURRY THE DISCHARGING OF VESSEL AND DISPATCH HER TO PUGET SOUND—WILL SAIL ABOUT WEDNESDAY—WILL PROBABLY TAKE MULES TO PANAMA OR HORSES TO PHILIPPINES.

Rush orders were received today for the transport Dix. Captain Humphrey received cable advices to hurry her discharging of coal and dispatch her without delay to Seattle. No reason for the sudden orders were given but it is surmised that the vessel is either to take a number of horses to the Philippines for the cavalry or else is to carry mules to Panama. There are a thousand mules at Seattle awaiting transportation to the Canal Zone to be used in the canal work. There is also a shortage of cavalry stock in the Philippines. In event of the Dix being sent to Manila she will probably take the great circle route from Seattle and avoid Honolulu on her outward trip. The vessel will leave Honolulu about Wednesday as the discharging of coal will be rushed day and night.
